Wharton Institute for the Performing Arts

Performing Arts School Referral Program

How does it work?

- When current Performing Arts School students refer a new student for private lessons or group classes, they receive a $25 credit for private lessons and $15 credit for group classes for every referral.
- The new student receives $25 off their enrollment in private lessons or $15 off their enrollment in group classes at the time of registration.

Here are the details.

- Current students receive one credit per referral at time of the new student's enrollment. New students must enroll in order for current students to receive credit.
- Current students may use referral credits for future enrollments.
- New students receive one credit at the time of enrollment.
- Valid only for new student families who have never enrolled at PAS previously.
- New students must fill in the Referral Program Question when creating an account online prior to enrollment.
- The PAS Referral Program launched October 30, 2019. Referral credits will only be issued at time of enrollment and expire June 30, 2020. Referral credits cannot be issued retroactively.
